7 MILLION GERMANS SLOWLY STARVING

DECLARES GERMAN MINISTER OF LABOR BRAUNS TODAY

MONEY SITUATION BAD

Brauns Declares Unemployment and Plunge of Mark Forces Millions to Bare Existance

Berlin, July 17—It is conservately estimated that 7 million German men and women are slowly starving as a result of the industrial crisis and the fatal plunge of the value of mark, declared Heinrich Brauns, German minister of labor in an exclusive statement to the International News today.

"There are people, who have been reduced to paupers because the incomes, which they formerly lived on in comfort for whole year, will not buy bread for a week under the present conditions. There are millions living solely upon old social insurance dividends.

"The fall of the mark has reduced the sum once sufficient for all the necessities to a ridiculous pittance, not enough to buy a single newspaper.

"We have 400,000 in the acute unemployment, but in addition there are millions comprising what Dr. Walter Ratheneau called "victims of hidden unemployment." These millions are like ballast of the industry and trade. They keep their jobs at full-time or part-time as a result of the demoralized situation.

"The world should understand that we are far from wanting to dump our goods abroad, because we must buy goods from other countries, especially food stuffs from England and the United States.

"Even formerly we had to import a fourth of our wheat. Now we must import a third of it, also a greater part of our wool, oil, copper, coal and cotton, but we have no money to pay for it."

Minister Braun told of the suffering of workers and their families and of the thousands forced into proverty and compelled to go without socks and underwear.

Reparation Situation Clearing Up Today

London, July 17—There was a more potimistic feeling in British diplomatic circles today over the reparations due to a semi-official word from Paris that Premier Poincare's speech of Sunday should not be regarded as an answer to Premier Stanley Baldwin's proposals in the House of Commons last Thursday.

Diplomatic conversations are still in progress between London and Paris, and foreign officials are hopeful that a more favorable view of the British reparation note will be taken when it is transmitted to the Allies and the Unite dStates this week.

HIGH FLOOD WATER THREATENS DENVER

CLOUD BURST ENDANGERS OTHER TOWNS.

WATER SWEEPS PUEBLO

One Dead and Communication Paralyzed—5 Feet of Water at Portland,3 feet at Florence.

Denver, July 17—Flood waters pouring over the Castlewood dam today were threatening to undermine the structure and wipe out the entire Cherry Creek valley near Parker, Colo. and perhaps a large section of Denver.

Desperate efforts are being made to strengthen the huge dam, the sole bulwark of millions of gallons of water. Flood waters are already reaching out to the residences of lower Denver and numerous small surrounding towns. The property damage already done in inestimable.

The high waters resulted from a succession of cloud bursts early this morning. The rushing torrents resulted in the overflow of the damage which inundated several small towns.

Residences of Franktown, Parker, Melvin, Sullivan, and the lower section of Denver spent the night in nearby hills.

"If the Castlewood dam breaks it will flood Denver and nearby towns to an almost unbelievable extent," John E. Field, who engineered the building of the dam, said today.

Guards have been placed by the city and county along the Cherry Creek to flash signs of danger to Denver.

Cattle and livestock in large numbers have been swept downstream by the torrent.

Pueblo, Colo. July 17—At least one person is known to be dead, telephone, telegraph and rail commuication is paralyzed and property damage running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, is the result of the high flood waters of swollen streams in this section due to heavy cloud bursts.

At Florence, 35 miles west, the Arkansas River is on a rampage, completely inundating the city under three feet of water. At Portland, 15 miles south of Florence, there is five feet of water in the streets.

FARMER-LABORITE NEW MINN. SENATOR

MAGNUS JOHNSON DEFEATS GOV. PREUS, HARDING'S CANDIDATE

WAS LAFOLLETTE'S MAN

Johnson's Majority Will Probably Reach 65,000—State Now Has Two Farmer-Labor Senators

St. Paul, July 17—Two members of the Farmer-Labor party now represents the state of Minnesota in the United States following the election yesterday which resulted in the election of Magnus Johnson to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Klute Nelson.

Indications this afternoon based on additional returns was that Johnson's majority would probably reach 65,000.

The other Farmer-Labor member from Minnesota in the Senate is Henry Shipstead, elected last fall at the regular election.

Johnson won over Gov. J. A. O. Preus, Republican and Harding adherent with James A. Farley, Democrat, trailing.

G. O. P. Senators Silent

A dispatch from Washington today says that opponents of the Harding administration, both within and without the Republican party, were jubilant over the election of Johnson. The dispatch further stated that the few Republican senators in Washington now had very little to say concerning Johnson's victory and scarcely anything at all to say for publication.

An Unusual Campaign

The election of Johnson ends a most unusual campaign in the political annals of the state. Called specifically to fill the vacancy Senator Nelson's death created, the primary, June 18, was marked by apathetic balloting that attracted only a few more than 300,000 of the state's 800,000 votes.

It had been expected that Governor Preus would resign and accept appointmen to the senate, but the chief executive, acting on an opinion of the state's attorney general's office, held such procedure would be illegal, and his call for the special primary and election followed.

Immediately after the primary, there was no apparent change in the attitude of the average voter, and it was indicated that today's election would roll around with a repetition of the primary vote in prospect.

Test of Harding Policies

Then it appeared that the country at large was vitally interested in the outcome—that it viewed it as a test between the policies of the Harding administration and things advocated by the La Follette bloc.

This national interest, many politicians say, went a long way toward arousing the voters of the state to the importance of the contest and the expectation early was that a vote considerably larger than the primary poll would be cast. Neutral observers found little on which to base predictions on the outcome.

Last Falls Election

In the general election last fall, Minnesota chose as United States senator, Dr. Henrik Shipstead, a Farmer-Laborite, giving him a total of 325,372 votes as compared to 241,833 for Senator Frank B. Kellogg.

Competing in the gubernatorial race in the same election, Governor Preus defeated Magnus Johnson, 309,756 votes to 295,479, with the candidates bearing the same party affiliations as they do today.

Henderson under authorization of Attorney-General Webb.

Billy Robinson, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson was taken to St. Francis hospital with an attack of appendicitis. An operation will probably be necessary.

LEARNING TO SEE.

Cases occur not infrequently where boys who never had any advantages in the way of education or family associations, will yet make great progress in the business and industrial world and attain success. How does it happen?

There is one form of education that may be going on all the time in the mind of a boy who has had no apparent advantages, and that is the training that comes from the faithful use of the powers observation.

A young man may have an excellent classical training and be extremely intelligent in matters of literature and history. But if he had no scientific training, and if you asked him to look through a microscope at some organism he might see nothing there that would have any special meaning. A trained observer, however, would look through that instrument and he would discover signs and indications that would throw light on the source from which that organism came.

So it frequently happens that a boy who has come up through difficulties and handicaps, is yet training the faculties by which people see things. He is making observations daily in regard to people and the objects of daily life. He becomes a keen thinker about practical things and learns to analyse propositions correctly. He learns how to get along with people, what they will do under certain conditions, how to handle material objects, and the process of industry. He is both a student of nature and human nature.

You put that fellow in any kind of a job, and he thinks out better ways to do the work and perform the service. That fellow is being educated all the time, though he may have quit school at an early age. He will suffer in many ways from his lack of schooling, but he has gained through observation a wonderful form of power.

Book education is extremely valuable, but it needs to be accompanied with this power to see and observe, or its results are likely to be limited.

THE PIONEER SPIRIT.

Honor was done the other day at Meacham, Oregon, to the early pioneers who opened up that part of the country. The achievement of the men and women who did the pioneer development in the various states is one of America's greatest traditions.

Our people now are not usually called on for heroic adventure. There is a danger, as a result of too much easy life, that substantial fiber is lost out of the national temperament. How can the present generation preserve this ability to endure hard and difficult experiences, which made the Americans of a past generation such a wonderful race?

Many young people can show something of it, by self-denial and industry. Young people who give up luxurious expenditures, who toil early and late to acquire a home of their own, are showing something of the old pioneer spirit. Modern life has provided a wonderful equipment of comforts, but it has not abolished necessity for real work and endurance.

A man with a good sized lawn don't need to play golf for exercise.

Some men are so bashful they even hate to meet their obligations.

How would you like to be a locust and work only once every seventeen years?

Money doesn't make the mare go any more, but it gets the gasoline that makes the car go.

The only thing that is worse than working this hot weather is doing nothing and thinking about it.

St. Louis is making war on the rats. What that town needs most is to get rid of Eagan's "rats" and a lot of others of the two legged variety.

France drove a bad bargain when she secured a lot of German bees under the Versailles treaty. These bees refuse to be in France and are sailing back to the Fatherland.

One of the unkindest cuts of all was when some paper lambasted the Kansas City Star for being an advocate of the league of nations. If there is anything in which the Star prides itself, it is in being against the league.

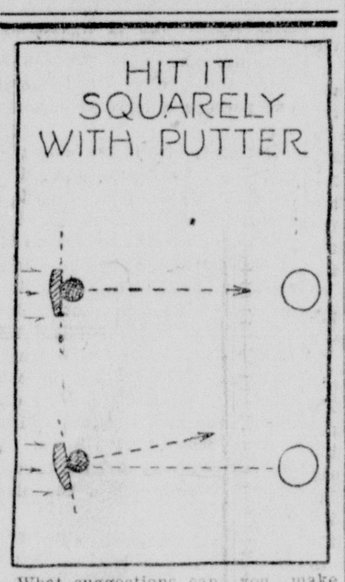
Golf Pointers



What suggestions can you make that would help in gaining accuracy in putting?

Answered by JIM BARNES

American open champion, 1921; recognized everywhere as one of the greatest golfers in the world. In British open championship, 1922, he finished second, one stroke behind Walter Hagen, the winner.

My first suggestion is: Practice a lot. Use a comfortable stance, ball fairly close to the feet. Keep head and body quiet. Hit squarely with the putter moving the putter head in a straight line. Avoid rotating the club, or swinging it so that the putter head moves in a curved line before it hits the ball. —(Copyright, 1923, Associted Editors.)

Too Many Laws Justice Asserts

Columbus, Ohio, July 17—Adoption of uniform code systems for regulating and interpreting laws, in order to reduce to a minimum the hundreds of volumes of statutes created annually by legislative bodies, was advocated by Chief Justice Marshall, of the Ohio Supreme Court, in an address here on "Too Much Law Making."

Declaring that more laws were enacted by the United States during its 125 years of law making than by the rest of the world in 6,000 years, Chief Justice Marshall asserted that the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the United States Constitution are the most striking examples expounding the principal requirements of conciseness, simplicity and perfection.

He declared that the blame for making new laws should not be placed upon the Government's judiciary department, and said that more than 175,000 pages of law were enacted by courts of last resort last year, "a number which it would be impossible for any lawyer to read intelligently in three years."

Hays, Kan., July 17.—"Your job is what you make of it."

That is the creed of a man who climbed from the position of janitor in the high school building at Beach, N. D., to the position of professor of theory and history in the music department of a state college.

Such was the progress made by Rollins A. Seabury, now bandmaster for the Hays City band, a feature of the recent annual Hays music festival week, which yearly brings thousands of music lovers from all over the country to this city.

"Your job is what you make of it," he declares. "I think the name of your job is immaterial, so long as your chin is set at the proper angle. A menial task is a stepping stone if you're willing to pay the price of success in earnest and conscientious effort."

Denton, Okla., July 17.—Theft of canteloupes and watermelons has increased to such an extent here that officers have become active and already courts of inquiry have been held. In some instances between $50 and $100 worth of melons have been stolen or destroyed in a single patch, according to reports to officers.

Melon growing has developed into an industry of considerable proportions here, and the action of thieves and vandals is causing much worry to the owners.

Dallas, Texas, July 17—Will Allen, had a good hog story to tell at headquarters the other night and the story is causing undue trouble in the way of mental effort for Sergeant Vitrup, former school teacher and present desk sergeant at headquarters.

"You see I gave that pig four gallons of buttermilk, which it drank," Allen explained. "I then picked that pig up and put it inside of a four-gallon bucket, and it didn't fill it up."

Sergeant Vitrup now is trying to solve the problem of the surplus buttermilk.

Sherman, Texas, July 17—Following clews given him by three small boys, who had discovered a jar of "white mule" buried on the bank of a creek in South Sherman, Acting Chief of Police John Roberts dug into the earth near where the first find was made and found four or five more gallons of corn whiskey. He has not found the owner yet.

"How Is Patient?" Dying Nurse Asks

Martyr to Her Profession, She Inquires for Woman Who Infected Her—Others Above Self

Chicago, July 17—A convincing example of the way nurses are taught to put before all else the welfare and comfort of their patients was demonstrated here recently in the death of a martyr to her profession—Miss Vivian Ruth Ovens.

Miss Ovens 23 and ebautiful—was the idol of Cook County Hospital and a favorite among all patients, as well as her own. Within four days she succumbed to a blood infection contracted while attending one of her charges.

"She was dying,' said Dr. Carlmeyer, assistant warden of the hospital, "and was the bravest girl I ever knew. She did not once complain. She said she had drawn her lot in life with full apprehension of its dangers."

Before dying Miss Ovens asked after the woman whose deadly contagion she had inherited. She was told the patient was recovering.

"Isn't that fine?" she murmured and thereafter sank rapidly until she died.

Prehistoric Skeletons Found Near Richland

Representatives From Smithsonian Institute Will Examine Remains Discovered on Steckle Farm.

Richland, Mo., July 17—Investigators from the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C., are expected here the later part of this month to exhume dug up parts of four skeletons, on the farm of E. A. Steckle, three miles from here.

While cleaning out one of the cliff caves on his farm last year, Mr. Steckle dug up part sof four skeletons, an ivory head and bits of pottery. Upon finding these he notified the Smithsonian Institute and they immediately notified him to suspend the excavation till they could examine the findings. Steckle said he found the bones buried among ashes of a fire and believed the cave to be inhabitated by a people that thought the fire to be sacred and thus buried their dead the ashes.

Local authorities believe the mains are over 2,000 years old. If t is true the findings will be of histo and archaeological value.

Contract Case Is Being Tried in Court

J. A. Speer Says J. D. Louden Agreed to Purchase 330 Acres of Land Near Elmo.

The case of Josiah A. Speer vs. J. D. Louden, et al, is being tried in circuit court today.

The case is over a contract made between Speer and Louden on February 24, 1920, by which Louden agreed to purchase 330 acres of land near Elmo, belonging to Speer for $60,000, according to the petition filed by the plaintiff in the suit.

Louden was given five years to pay for the land, beginning March 1, 1920, and any defaults were to forfeit the contract. The contract and a deed in escrow was placed with the Clarinda National Bank of Clarinda, Ia.

The plaintiff states that taxes, interest and insurance aggregating $4,000 have become due since October 1, 1921. On February 4, 1922, a notice was served on the defendant by Speer, advising him of the payments due and on March 1, 1922, a second notice was given.

In his petition Speer says that the Clarinda National Bank has failed to surrender the contract or the deed in escrow. On March 1, 1922, the plaintiff took possession of the farm, but Speer alleges that the defendants have failed to pay the taxes, interest or insurance.

The court is asked to order and decree the plaintiff's forfeiture of said contract final and binding; that title of the land be divested out of defendants and vested in the plaintiff; that plaintiff be adjudged the sole and only owner of the land, and that the deed in escrow be declared null and void.

Arguments on the case were still going on at press time this afternoon.

RULES ARE GIVEN FOR BEEF CONTEST

WORKED OUT BY THE COUNTY AGENTS AT CONFERENCE.

SILVER CUP GIVEN

To Boy or Girl Making Highest Score in Individual Judging Contest —Medals Also.

E. M. Carroll, secretary of the St. Joseph District Baby Beef show, has received from H. M. Garlock, of the agricultural extension service, University of Missouri, rules governing the junior judging contest, to be held in connection with the 1923 district show in October. The rules were worked out by county agents at a recent conference held in St. Joseph, R. A. Kinnaird said this morning. A silver loving cup will be offered the boy or girl making the highest score in the individual judging contest. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the teams ranking 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, respectively, making the high est scores. The calves being fed for the district show are all doing nicely, according to Mr. Garlock, who has just returned from a visit to the club members in Clinton county where he found calves, at this time, better than some of the prize winners at last years show. Mr. Garlock is planning a trip to inspect the calves being fed by the Buchanan county club members, August 2 and 3. Rules governing the judging contest, as announced by Mr. Garlock are as follows:

County Agent Special

Eligibility—1. Any boy or girl in a Northwest Missouri county, i nwhich a county extension agent is located, is eligible to compete in the contest, provided he is a bonafide member of a baby beef club and completes the project during 1923. Participation in this contest shall be limited to one team of three members from each county. Each county extension agent shall file with the superintendent of this contest, at the time the team is entered, an authoritative statement concerning the eligilibity of his entrants.

Contestants—. Entries for the stock judging contest must be sent to H. M. Garlock, agricultural extension service, Columbia, Mo., by October 1, 1923. Regular entry forms will be mailed all county agents before September 15, 1923. Each contestant with his county agent shall report to the superintendent at the horse barns in rear of the Transit House, South St. Joseph, at 9:30 a. m., October 15, 1923 for full instructions. No contestant will be permitted to inspect the calves at St. Joseph entered in the District Baby Beef show previous to this contest. Any transgression of this rule is sufficient cause to bar a member from the contest.

Time—In each ring 15 minutes shall be allowed for the contestant to make his observations, record his placings and write such memoranda he may desire. When called before the judge each contestant shall be allowed two minutes in which to give oral reasons for his placing of each ring.

Rings of Animals—Not less than three rings of live stock, one each of of Shorthorn, Angus and Herefords, shall be placed in the contest. Reasons for placing to be given on at least one ring of animals. Four animals shall constitute each ring, animals to be identified by placing a card on each animal. Coaches, alternates and others not assisting with the contest, shall be excluded from the ring.

Judges—A competent judge will be selected to pass upon the rings of animals and to grade the contestants upon their placings and reasons for same.

SEA MONSTERS NOT MYTHS

Weird Tales of Wondrous Creatures, Told by Sailors, Declared to Have a Foundation.

The chief abode of the weird monsters of the deep about which mariners have spun yarns for more than 200 years, are the submerged mountains and valleys that run along the West African coast from Gambria to Sierra Leone, according to Arthur K. Sampson, a Canadian mining engineer. Nearly all the sea serpent stories originated in these regions, Mr. Simpson says, and have been regarded as myths, invented by imaginative sailors. Certain sections along the coast, he says, are avoided by the native fishermen, who dread the monsters, which they declare rise to the surface about sundown, and lash the sea into fury with their immense tails.

Mr. Simpson says he saw the greater portion of the body of one of these monsters, which evidently had been washed ashore by the heavy surf. He says it had two forearms or flappers, and two hind legs and a tail, two large, deep-set eyes, and an enormous mouth. He estimated its weight at more than three tons.

The Average Tourist.

Sir Paul Dukes, who recently married Mrs. Ogden Mills, was talking one day about travel.

"Most travelers see nothing," he said. "I remember once, when I was a boy, a boy friend of mine spent a month in Italy.

"'What is Italy like?' I asked him on his return.

"'Why, like a boot, of course,' he answered contemptuously. 'Didn't you never study geography?'"

Fatality Due to Toy Balloon.

Her toy balloon with which she was playing caused the death of a five-year-old girl in Brockley, Eng. The balloon was given her by her father, who blew it up and tied it with a piece of string. Shortly afterwards the girl was found in a fainting condition, and later she died. The deflated envelope of the balloon was found in the child's windpipe. It had caused death by suffocation.

Odd Propaganda Device.

Single grains of rice are being used in India for the purposes of religious propaganda. Each grain contains a verse from the Koran—24 words of 82 letters. The Arabic characters, though written in ink with the pointed finger-nail of a Punjabi artist, are traced so well that they may be read with the naked eye.

Unique Fish-Propagation Boat

An unusual method of carrying live fish long distances for propagation purposes without bruising or injuring them has been adopted by the Ohio Fish and Game Commission. Instead of tanks or barrels, a boat is used for this purpose, which has two built-in tanks running lengthwise of the vessel, for the most part below the water line. Each of the tanks is provided with an intake at the bow; below the water level, and with an outlet at the stern, above it. This arrangement assures the fish a continuously fresh supply of water.

Fossils Prove Asia Once Part of America

Fossils unearthed by the Third Asiatic Expedition, working in Mongolia, prove that a broad land connection once existed between North America and Asia. Part of the remains has been identified as that of the "titanothere," which roamed over Utah and Montana several million years ago. Perhaps the most important find is the skull of a "baluchitherium," a giant rhinoceros and one of the largest land mammals that ever lived. This animal is estimated to have measured at least 12 feet high and about 24 feet long. The illustration shows the comparative sizes of a man, an African rhinoceros and the giant baluchitherium.

An Improvised Smokehouse

When it is necessary to smoke small quantities of meat, and no smokehouse is available, one can readily be improvised from a laundry stove, a barrel, and a support such as a sawhorse or wooden box.

One head of the barrel is removed, and a hole, 8 in. in diameter, is cut in the other head near the side, as shown. This hole is fitted over the short length of pipe projecting above the stove, the barrel being supported by the sawhorse and by a brick placed on the stove. The meat is hung, by means of small wire hooks, from an iron rod placed across the top of the barrel. The whole arrangement is placed outdoors in a place sheltered from the wind. Wood or corncobs may be used for fuel.

A Clothes Washer You Can Make

A simple but efficient clothes washer of the type shown in the drawing has been used successfully for a number of years for cleaning clothes that will stand boiling.

It consists of a wash boiler, fitted with a 1-in. pine board that is perforated with ¾-in. holes and mounted on wooden legs. A larger hole at each end permits the insertion of two lengths of 1-in. pipe, 14 in. long, which are fitted at the upper end with an elbow, nipple, and cap, the cap being perforated with numerous small holes. The pipe should fit snugly in the holes in the board, and the lower ends, which are open, must be only a slight distance above the bottom of the boiler.

In use, the arrangement is fitted in the boiler as indicated, the clothes are packed in, and water is poured in to a depth not quite sufficient to cover the clothes. As soon as the water boils, the steam confined beneath the clothes forces the water up through the pipes and over the clothes. The water will then seep through the clothes, and in this way there is a continuous circulation, which cleans the clothes in a short time.

Thwarts Mail-box Thieves

The activities of mail-box thieves, who can easily take letters from the ordinary box, are rendered fruitless by the attachment of a simple hook appliance shown in the illustration. It consists of two overlapping series of wires, having their upper ends coiled to impart a spring action to each series. When placed against the letter opening on the interior of the box, the upper series, like a one-way gate, permits the letter to be inserted and to fall into the box. The lower series of wires, however, has hooked ends, and guards against any attempt to withdraw the letter through the slot.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK
The Low Cost of the Trip
Will Surprise You

Up there in the Northern Rockies there are fifteen hundred square miles of breathing room — loafing space; great forests, sparkling streams, filmy waterfalls, exquisite mountain lakes, slow-moving glaciers, cloud-swept mountain peaks and myriads of many-hued wild flowers.

Go this summer and refresh your soul! To breathe the breezes, quickened by the glaciers, flavored by the mountains and streams and perfumed by the pines and flowers is an experience you never will forget. Where mountain sheep pose on the edge of space you will find mammoth rustic inns. Where the Blackfeet Indians pitch their tepees among the pointed peaks you will find cozy Alpine chalets.

If you are a fisherman, there are trout to battle with. If you are a hiker, there are skyline trails to follow. If you love to ride, mountain ponies will carry you along the Continental Divide, the Backbone of this Continent. If you like to row, there are waters to explore. If you prefer to camp, there are scores of ideal spots on the shores of glinting lakes. The chalets (little hotel villages in the mountains) are delightful tarrying places. More elaborate accommodations are provided at the inns.

The whole service scheme in Glacier blends completely with the outdoor idea. Follow the dictates of your fancy. Better go this summer. 'Twill do you a world of good!

Market News

By Charles M. Pipkin.

Kansas City, July 17.—The movement of pasture cattle is getting under way. The bulk of the 22,000 cattle and 5,000 calves received, came from the pasture sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and indications are that this movement will continue liberal. Choice steers were scarce and fully steady. Other grades sold slowly and slightly lower. Hog prices were 10 to 15 cents higher, with trade active. Sheep and lambs were fully steady.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 23,000 cattle, 11,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep, compared with 18,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs and 12,000 sheep a week ago, and 18,600 cattle, 7,350 hogs and 8,575 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

Though cattle receipts were the largest for some time past, prices for the best grades were fully steady, and the plain and medium classes were slightly lower. As the run increases, demand is expanding and the selling side is having little trouble to place the offerings. Killers now have a fairly good line on early good grass cattle, and they are inclined to take them freely. Fed steers are scarce, and they will probably continue to bring a good premium over other classes. The best steers today sold at $11.25 and other choice steers brought $10 to $11.10. Grass steers sold at $4.25 to $8.00, and wintered, summer grazed steers, up to $9.25. Cows and heifers, except fed grades which were steady, sold slightly lower. Veal calves were weak.

Stockers and Feeders.

Liberal supplies of this cattle were offered and choice, selected kinds sold readily, but the plain and ordinary classes were barely steady at last week's decline.

Hogs.

Hog prices ruled 10 to 15 cents higher. Receipts were short of a week ago, and the trade is expecting a further advance before the week-end. The top price today was $7.35, and bulk of sales $7.10 to $7.30. Packing sows sold at $6.00 to $6.25, and pigs and stock hogs at $6.00 to $6.50. For the past ten days hog prices held about the seven dollar level, and the general market seems to be getting into a position for a general advance.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices in the sheep division were fully steady. Native lambs sold at $14.00 to $14.25, and a big string of 76 lb Idaho lambs brought $14.50 straight. Texas wethers sold at $7.50 to $8.25 or as high as any time this season. Some Texas yearlings brought $10.25.

Horses and Mules.

Trade in horses and mules remains quiet at about steady prices. Dealers say demand will improve by the middle of August.

PLAN WIDE SWEEP OF BALLOT BROOM POLITICAL PROGRESSIVES TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN.

MARIONETTES ASSAILED

Meddlers and Muddlers Also to Be Fought—Party Blocs Must Go, They Say.

By KENNETH W. CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 17.—Flushed with successes in the last elections, the Conference for Progressive Political Action, founded only a year ago, is laying plans for a great political campaign in 1924 which will extend to every State and every Congressional district in the country, according to a statement from headquarters here.

"Of course," the statement said, "conference workers realize their campaign in 1922 was only a skirmish and preliminary to the greater contest that they will wage in the coming Presidential year.

"In that year meddlers, muddlers and mutts who dance as marionettes to the music of dictatorial corporations will be swept out of Congress, the Federal departments and the White House."

The conference is headed by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists. Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is treasurer. Men and women prominent in the so-called "progressive thought" circles of the country are included in the membership of the national committee.

Throughout the statement strikes a highly confident note, predicting "the year 1924 will become memorable as the year when every-day Americans will assert their political independence and take control of their own government, without interference by, or distation from, a minority of class-conscious wealth manipulators."

Not only will "the people take a a greater responsibility unto themselves and participate in all the affairs of public life so that a real reign of law and order will prevail," but it it is the plan "that administrative government controlled by special privilege, manipulated under private license for the personal profit of the financial and social 'blocs,' must be ended for all time in these United States."

"Experiences gained in 1922 have convinced the most stupid and the most bigoted observer that the working people refuse to be party idolators or pawns upon the political chessboard of money lords, landlords and industrial lords," the statement declared.

Taking political stock, it continued: "Largely because of the activity of the C. P. P. A. many undesirable Senators, or obnoxious aspirants were defeated last year. Thirteen Senatorial candidates were named.

"On the other hand, in spite of the most bitter opposition, twelve pronounced Progressives were elected to the Senate."

In the House, while not more amazing, the success was more gratifying, it was said.

"For the House of Representatives 137 new members were elected, 93 undesirables were defeated, 13 saw the handwriting on the wall and voluntarily quit. Most of the hard-boiled partisans who have favored pernicious class legislation for the favored few will not trouble the producers of the nation again in the House."

Much gratification was evidenced that "Henry Cabot Lodge, a notorious business agent of special privilege from Massachusetts, was barely re-elected."

No candidate was brought forward to whom the organization plans to hitch its political star. Personalities were not mentioned, except that workers for the Conference "will bring forward for public recognition men and women from its own ranks—those who have been tested and trusted with the destinies of their associates in economic, educational and fraternal activities."

Regarding policies, the Conference will attack "detested class legislation like the Cummins-Esch transportation act and similar measures favored by the financial and social 'blocs' which control the Government of the United States."

What is the best stroke for beginners to learn first?

BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

The dog paddle because it is most easily self-taught. The body lies flat on the water, the head held high enough to permit breathing through the mouth. The motion is simple, merely a crawling action with arms alternating. It is well to keep the hands and arms below the surface of the water; to bring them out results in splashing which interferes with breathing and with vision.

TRACHOMA HOSPITAL TO OPEN JULY 24

DISTINGUISHED MEN EXPECTED TO ATTEND EXERCISES.

OFFERS FREE AID TO ALL

Any Person Afflicted iWth Trachoma Will Pay Only Railroad Fare to and From Rolla.

Rolla, Mo., July 17.—The formal opening of the United States Trachoma Hospital will be held in Rolla July 24. Surgeon John McMullen, Governor Arthur M. Hyde and other distinguished men are expected to attend the exercises.

The State Board of Health through the aid of the United States Public Health Service has been successful in securing for Missouri such an institution. The state furnished the building and the United States furnishes the medical staff and the nurses. It is under the direct supervision of the federal government and Surgeon John McMullen supervises all cases of trachoma.

The institution was located in Rolla because it is in the center of the afflicted area. Most cases of trachoma are found in the counties of south and southeast Missouri. Most cases of the disease come from communities where the living conditions are below the standard.

Trachoma, commonly known as granulated eyelids, is a communicable disease and is only curable by operation. If left alone it often results in blindness. Any citien of the United States can receive free treatment at this hospital.

According to Miss S. A. Lunt, special nurse of the United States Public Health Service, this is one of the five such institutions in the United States; Kentucky has two, Tennessee has one and Arkansas has one. In the last year Nodaway County paid $13,032 to the blind fund and received $12,600 in pensions for the blind. There are forty-two blind persons in Nodaway County of whom five are known to result from trachoma.

The hospital staff will consist of one medical officer, two nurses and a field staff. The field staff will be made up of nurses who will establish clinics in different portions of the state to take care of trachoma cases that cannot be taken care of at the hospital.

The medical officer is not known at present, but the two nurses will be Miss S. A. Lunt and Miss Grace Harwood both of Louisville, Ky., special nurses of the United States Public Health Service. Miss Virginia Hill is one of the field nurses.

Rolla, Mo., July 17—The new $100,000 building that is to house the Mississippi Valley Experiment Station of the United States Bureau of Mines and the State Mine Experiment Station is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy late this fall.

It is an H-shaped two story and basement, fireproof brick and concrete building. It is one of the most complete metallurgical building in the United States.

This institution is maintained on the campus of the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy. Charles E. VanBarneveld is to be the acting superintendent and Martin H. Thornberry, research metallurgist, is to be in charge of the laboratory.

The mining experiment station was established by the board of Curators June 1, 1909, and since then has been located in the Metallurgical building.
